

Build the Mildura Solar Power Plant

RALLY, 12.00pm Sat, Jan 23
Parliament House, City

Premier John Brumby said in parliament on Nov 25 "we have $50 million on the table for the Mildura solar project which I am confident will be delivered." But it hasn't been delivered. Company Solar Systems, which had the contract to build the Mildura solar power plant, faces liquidation. The administration period has been extended to Feb 17. But if a buyer isn't found, Brumby refuses to step in to guarantee the Mildura solar plant. The project would have created 1000 green jobs and powered 45,000 homes.

Kevin Rudd has been pretending to care about climate change in Copenhagen, but at home Australia's first large scale solar project is on the verge of collapse and he has nothing to offer. Why no stimulus for renewable energy? If the market can't deliver government must step in.
